Ability To Pay Review And Guidelines

Depending on your financial circumstances, you may be able to request a hearing for the judge to consider your ability to pay and any nonmonetary compliance options available to you to satisfy your court debt. The judge may grant or deny your request for a hearing, and nonmonetary options are available at the court's discretion. If you are indigent or unable to pay, please call local program staff for further information.

You have the right to avoid jail for defaults in payment if the court does not: (1) hold a hearing and, (2) make a written finding that: (A) you are indigent and have failed to make good faith effort under the law to discharge your fine and court costs, and you could have discharged your fine and costs without experiencing undue hardship; or (B) you are not indigent and have failed to make good faith effort to discharge your fine and costs.

Please check one if it applies to you:
